

Effective Practice in Assessment and Tracking: an introduction to the Guidelines for practitioners

This one day course will introduce practitioners to the Foundation's new evidence-based, Effective Practice Guidelines (EPGs) for assessment and tracking in maths and English and will explore teaching, learning and assessment approaches that will improve progression and attainment. These EPGs will promote a new perspective on assessment and tracking and associated pedagogies.

17th January, 9:30-16:00
In Tuition House, London

Parallel training for practitioners and managers

Aimed at maths and English practitioners, this course will be run in parallel with an equivalent session for managers (see, Hyperlink) enabling managers and practitioners to collaborate in joint planning, over lunch.

Training aim

Enable delegates to re-conceptualise and redesign assessment and tracking, to improve maths and English delivery and outcomes, based on meta-research and evidence-based practice.

Learning outcomes

By the end of the course, participants will be able to:

- identify the purpose of assessment and tracking in maths and English;
- explore the cognitive and affective domains of an Assessment for Learning framework;
- understand the expectancy-value theory of motivation;
- understand the principles behind the effective practice guidelines for assessment and tracking;
- identify teaching, learning and assessment approaches that promote effective practice;
- apply the effective practice guidelines to their practice;
- know how to equip learners to monitor and evaluate their own learning.
